thousand gallons of water and this is several thousand gallons below what we have been carrying for the past two or three months. We have just finished repacking our pumps and engines and while that was being done the reservoir fell a little, but in a few days it will contain the usual amount of water. "In the event of a large fire breaking out and should seven streams be applied, how long would your water supply hold out?"

A. E. VEAZIE, Passenger Agent.

Harvest Excursion Rates from Mis-We are in shape and able to keep seven streams pouring with eighty pounds pressure, at least two days, and longer, if necessary. During the late fire at Zeigler's barn seven of our fire plugs were in use and two of Hale's. The streams played for three hours and fifteen minutes and the reservoir, after the fire was out, was only six inches lower than when the water was first turned on. This we could easily do. The connected with Chessman's dirch could be made in less than two minutes. We are connected with the Gamewell electric fire alarm and as soon as the general alarm is sounded our gong rings simultaneously and the pumps are immediately set in prompt action. We are very careful about the eeping our fire fighting water in good condition as well as the plugs throughout the city. Our man has placed the plugs in first-class shape and nearly all can be unscrewed by hand. Just step along here and I'll illustrate' said Mr. Stever, walking to the plug in front of the Granite block which he unscrewed with great ease.

"Yes," he continued, "Helena is well prepared to fight the fire fiend, if water can subdue him, and there never has been cause for complaint against us for not keeping the required pressure." Should we fail in this, the city council could come back on us for $3.200, an amount the company agreed to forfeit for a failure to keep the proper pressure."

"How is it you have so much water now?"

At first the people were very wasteful of the water, and as we started in against many obstacles and considerable abuse, we could not very well make much of a kick against the people. But the extreme dryness of the weather and the shortage of water in the mountain streams has caused our customers to be more economical with the water, and gradually we have enforced our rules without the streams and streams are supplied to the more economical with the water, and gradually we have enforced our rules without the streams are supplied to the stream of the

This is down 721 feet and a good flow has been secured adding to the well 60,000 gallons daily. The artesian well is a success, notwithstanding what has been secured adding to the well said to the contrary. Another expensive undertaking was laying the 10-inch mains to connect with Chessman's ditch. Fourteen hundred feet of iron pipe was required to do this. The Chessman water is only used in case of emergency, such as a big fire. The public has been very kind to us in submitting to our request that they should be economical in the use of water, and if they continue in this course we will be able to furnish all the water for present use and are prepared for any emergency."
